

Daddy was a Battleship (lyrics)

Daddy was a battleship but I'm a lightweight cruiser
I gave up size to take on speed O I was born a loser

When I go swimming in the lake I never like to float
I swing my arms and kick my legs to prove I'm not a boat

Every night about this time I take a little walk
To get away from the busy street and all that busy talk

I only go to bed at night to get my body laid
I only go to work at dawn to get my back dues paid

O dilettantes and dickeybirds and lollipops to suck
If you get the point of this I guess you're out of luck
