

In the False Dawn

In the false dawn our eyes close each other — wooden wing while upstairs in the elephant shop
they set the trap to shoot you open at dawn.
Some scream out of touch with deaf ears.