

Keeping the Faith

Well the board said TILT and I was out of nickels so I went to a bar and ate a few pickles but my head got stuck in that pickle jar so I went outside but not very far when the man came up and said to me “Do you have any proof of identity?”

Well I was sick and turning green and that man in uniform was looking mean so I shook my head but that pickle jar broke and the man got wet and I about choked but he was shaking his head and nothing cracked so I looked at him and he looked right at me back and I said, “Can you believe what just happened to me?”

And he said, “Brother, I believe, I believe.”
