"It is the psyche that contains the pursuit of the angelic, the claims of the animal body, and the structures and dynamics that join the two. . . .

thinking about our thinking is the necessary companion of any exploration and understanding of the universe. . . .

An expansion of consciousness is imperative if we are to make responsible use of the transformative power in our hands. . . .

Recognition of the autonomous intelligence of these deep emotional responses may be an invitation to attune ourselves to the presence of the earth's own intelligence — or intelligences."

- Glen Slater
