

(2024 March 23) Artist as Healer - Gilah Yellin Hirsch, Aleph to DNA: The Healing Power of Form

I feel very fortunate to have been touched in my life by a few powerful healers, all of whom embodied more than passing interest in the confluence and practical application of medicinal and fine arts, cosmology and philosophy, religion and depth psychology, as well as in experiencing a wholesomeness that, for want of better words, is sometimes called joie de vivre.

Gilah Yellin Hirsch is one of these. I highly recommend that artists (in the broad sense) watch the attached video from her website, a live rendition of which at Beyond Baroque in Venice I just watched on youtube. The video tracks her extraordinary life as an artist and her, again, extraordinary history of near-death experiences and the healing power of her art-work (a word that in this context takes on a remarkable range of meanings).
