

Tell the Bees

Tell the bees when I am gone.
Drape their hives in mourning.
Ask the birds to sing love songs
all day all night long.

Bow your head to the rose
as I would do in passing,
Lose yourself in the musky scent
Forget to be cunning.