

Good Fences

Death is very close.
The buzzards circle and swoop.

Your hand across the table
naked without the ring.

Yesterday a neighbor's dogs killed another neighbor's pigs.

This morning that one shot some dogs.
Now black wings interrupt the sun

their shadows across my shoulders a shawl for those dying before their time.